Romans 8:38, 39

“Inseparable”

38 For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, 39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

High-powered rulers or any who may have authority on earth or in a spiritual realm, may threaten a sense of stability for some. There are all kinds of things, people, and situations which may cause discomfort or various unsettling feelings.

As for True Believers, however, none of those things can separate us from God's love.

We could be separated from other people.

It is possible to be separated from places and things, to which we may hold some degree of attachment, but true Believers cannot be separated from God either on earth or in eternity.
In this way, we are inseparable.

In 1975, a Rhythm

and Blues (R&B) singer, Natalie Cole, sang a song by this very name, “Inseparable”. In it, she described a very close relationship with someone.

The lyrics start with:

Inseparable.
That’s how we’ll always be.
Inseparable.

Just you and me.
It's so wonderful to know
you'll always be around me…

It's good as a song and as sentiments for personal relationships, but it lacks the guarantee of Romans 8, verses 38 and 39. People leave. People die. People can become mentally detatched, even while physically present—whether intentionally, as in pouting, or even unintentionally, as in symptoms of certain mental conditions. So that song, while beautifully performed, is not accurate in terms of reality and especially not regarding eternity.

Believers are,
according to Scripture, inseparable
fromthe love of God
in Christ Jesus
both now, in this existence called “life”, and also beyond it.

That’s truly
inseparable!
